

FERAL KNITTER RETREATS WITH JANINE BAJUS

THE FIRST
FERAL KNITTER WINTER RETREAT

FRIDAY HARBOR, WA NOVEMBER 16–19, 2020

There's something magical about the San Juan Islands in the northwest corner of Washington State: green islands, exposed granite, evergreens and madronas, rocky beaches and driftwood, open meadows, the everchanging waters, soothing ferry rides, and (now and then) the views of snow-covered mountains. There are some 400 islands (not all are inhabited); the four largest are connected by a car-ferry system.

THE RETREAT

Many of my Fair Isle design students have expressed a desire to have my feedback while they work on new designs, but they don't want to repeat a full design workshop. They also want time and space to explore a new idea, away from the distractions of everyday life. Maybe someone else to cook and clean the bathroom

If this describes your dream, the Feral Knitter Retreat is planned with you in mind! For four days you will have the opportunity to work on your design, getting the degree of feedback you want. I will be available to each participant for a half-hour private consultation, if you want. Otherwise I will be in the knitting room every morning (and most afternoons), answering questions, demonstrating techniques, and offering my opinions more casually as your project progresses. The yarn playpen, complete with 212 colors of Jamiesons Shetland Spindrift yarn for swatching, will be available for the entire retreat.

You will be free to come as go as you please during the day; the knitting room will be open all day long. We want to balance deep creative work with relaxation and play!

PREREQUISITE

You must have taken one of my 2-day Fair Isle Color or 3-day Design Your Own Fair Isle workshops—I will not be teaching the basics at this retreat, although I will demonstrate techniques as requested.

THE PLAY

I can't promise anything about the weather in the Pacific Northwest in November. I've experienced brilliantly clear days and drizzly gloom, sometimes both on the same weekend. But if you bring the right clothing it shouldn't matter! There's lots to do here.

In town: The Island Inn on 123 West is right in Friday Harbor, so you can walk to the yarn shop, bookstores, gift shops, and coffee shops.

On the water: The inter-island ferry runs every afternoon. Hop on board for a free 3-hour cruise between the three other largest islands: Orcas, Shaw, and Lopez. The scenery is inspirational and the ride is relaxing.

History: San Juan Island was the site of our last armed conflict with the British army—over a pig! Visit American Camp on the southernmost point and English Camp in the north to learn more about this moment in American history as well as seeing two very different landscapes.

Outdoors: Hike at Lime Kiln Park. Sign up for a boat trip. Or take a drive to the alpaca farm.

THE DATES

Plan to arrive Sunday afternoon, November 15th. Your rooms will be available for check in at 3:00.

We'll enjoy a wine-and-cheese meet and greet Sunday evening from 5:00 to 6:00. Dinner will be on your own at your choice of local restaurants.

Check out will be Friday morning, November 20th.

THE HOTEL

The Island Inn at 123 West is a modern hotel just blocks from the ferry dock, overlooking the marina and close to everything Friday Harbor has to offer.

Mt Baker early morning

THE FOOD

A hot breakfast is included in your room charge. Coffee, tea, and hot water are available most of the day.

All other meals are on your own. Friday Harbor boasts a number of restaurants and bakeries, from quite fancy to laid back, within walking distance of the hotel. A well-stocked grocery store is just two blocks away.

THE COST

Retreat fee: $500 includes materials for extensive swatching

Hotel: Varies depending upon room choice

HOW TO SIGN UP

Sign up

You can reserve your spot by filling out the form on page 5 and mailing it to the address below with a check for $150 made out to Feral Knitter.

Janine Bajus
1153 the Alameda
Berkeley CA 94707

The $150 deposit is non-refundable and holds your space. You may transfer your deposit only if you can find a replacement yourself. The remaining $350 of the $500 retreat fee is due 3 months before the retreat (August 16, 2020).

2. The Hotel

Now it's time to make your hotel reservation. Check out the Island Inn handout and then call them at 360-378-4400 to reserve the room you'd like—let them know you are attending the Fair Isle Retreat. The website will show that there aren't any rooms available because I've put a block on them so you get first choice and a special rate! Rooms range from the small Euros to the large Penthouses. If you'd like to share a room but don't have a roommate, let the hotel know and they will try to match you up.

Plan to arrive Sunday, November 15th and to check out on Friday, November 20th (unless you want to extend your time in these magical islands!).

3. Getting There

The San Juan Islands are joyously isolated! But there are many ways to get to Friday Harbor, on San Juan Island, and I've always found the journey is half the fun. You really have two choices: land+water or plane.

Please do not make any unrefundable reservations until I confirm that we have enough people to make this retreat financially viable!

Snow geese near La Conner

1. Land + Water

Drive to the ferry terminal in Anacortes and take the ferry to Friday Harbor. You've got two ways to get to the ferry terminal on the outskirts of Anacortes: car or shuttle service.

Car

You can drive to the ferry terminal in Anacortes, where you catch the ferry to Friday Harbor. I can recommend a side trip to La Conner if you have extra time! The Calico Cupboard Cafe in both La Conner and Anacortes makes a good lunch or breakfast stop.

You should make ferry reservations for your trip well ahead of time because there are a limited number of sailings in the winter. You need to be through the ferry booth 30 minutes before sailing; otherwise, your reservation will be nullified. Ferry schedules can be found at www.wsdot.wa.gov/ferries/; you can find information about reservations at www.wsdot.wa.gov/Ferries/TakeaFerry/

Shuttle

Because the Island Inn is just two blocks from the ferry dock, you could take an airporter from SeaTac Airport, downtown Seattle, or the Bellingham airport to the ferry terminal and ride as a walk-on passenger. The airporter is a relaxing way to avoid the Puget Sound traffic! www.airporter.com/shuttle

2. Air

Yes, you can fly to San Juan island! Kenmore Air offers land planes and sea planes. For information about their schedules, costs, etc take a look here: www.kenmoreair.com If you are taking the plane please let me know so I can pick you up at the airport.

I'm looking forward to spending time with you! Please let me know if you have any questions.
